- (b) The consultation shall take place as soon as it is practicable after the Council has made a decision which will invoke the provisions of clause 10.2(a) and shall cover the reasons for the proposed terminations and measures to avoid or minimise the terminations and/or their adverse effects on the employee/s concerned.

- (b) where the employee rejects an offer of employment with the transmittee:
 - (i) in which the terms and conditions are substantially similar and no less favourable, considered on an overall basis, than the terms and conditions applicable to the employee at the time of ceasing employment with the transmittor; and
 - (ii) which recognises the period of continuous service which the employee had with the transmittor and any prior transmittor to be continuous service of the employee with the transmittee.

10.8 Alternative employment

The Council, in a particular case, may make application to the Commission to have the general severance pay prescription amended if the Council obtains acceptable alternative employment for an employee.

- (b) to an employee engaged for a specific period or task/s; or
- (c) to a casual employee; or

- (b) The consultation must occur as soon as practicable after making the decision referred to in clause 11.1.
- (c) For the purpose of such consultation the Council shall provide in writing to the employees concerned and, where relevant, their union/s, all relevant information about the changes including the nature of the changes proposed, the expected effects of the changes on employees, and any other matters likely to affect employees.

The said payment shall be in addition to all other payments due to the owner driver under the Award.

Schedule 2 - Classification and Operating Principles - Operational Services Employees

Classification and operating principles

Basis for remuneration

Payment is determined by the skill level of the role, not the tasks undertaken. Therefore, payment does not automatically vary when particular tasks or new tasks are performed. Employees will on occasion perform work of a similar nature and because of the different skill levels required, attract different classification rates. This principle adheres to the concepts of competency based remuneration and payment for skills required.

Working within skill and safety limits

Council may direct an employee to carry out such duties as are within the limits of the employee's skill, competence and training consistent with the classification structure of this Award, provided that such duties are not designed to promote deskilling and are in accordance with the Work Health and Safety Act 2011.

Further to Agreement reached on 26 April 1988, such tasks may include, but are not limited to:

- minor maintenance and repairs, including use of powered and other hand tools;
- minor field repairs, part replacements; replacing wheels on small mobile plant, light bulbs and other components of equipment utilised by the team to ensure work can continue in a safe and productive manner;
- oxy-acetylene and associated tasks, as required, by suitably skilled employees;
- towing of movable plant to and from work sites;
- small painting jobs, work on pipes and drains;
- minor maintenance on pumps and bleeding compressors;
- minor multi-skilling in scientific and analytical services.

Award flexibility

The parties agree in principle that the Award skill level definitions and agreed classification structures are suitable for the needs of Council, generally more broadly based, more truly reflective of the different skill levels of the tasks now performed, and which shall incorporate the ability for an employee to perform a wider range of duties where appropriate. For example, minor plumbing and maintenance work on water services, truck driving, and plant operation. This ability is limited to the extent of training, accreditation and licensing requirements.

Role evaluation process

When a Division or Business Unit restructures work to meet business needs, or decides to expand operations into new areas or update existing position descriptions as changes become necessary, the position description shall be referred to the Corporate Wages Grading Committee for evaluation. Giving consideration to employee consultation, position description quality, corporate grading consistency and equity. Updating existing Position descriptions need to be agreed by both management and the relevant union/s to ensure the statement reflects work practices required by Council, before being submitted to the Corporate Wages Grading Committee.

The Corporate Wages Grading Committee, including two management representatives and a Union representative and chaired by a HR Consultant, shall utilise the agreed role evaluation procedure to assess and assign a Grade level to the role.

Appointment process

Employees are attached to position descriptions through an appointment selection process when vacancies occur or new roles are created. Employees are selected based on skill, knowledge and relevant experience as assessed against the advertised selection criteria in accordance with the agreed Council merit based recruitment and selection process.

Classification structure - progression

Progression through the Award classification structure is as follows:

- Entry to Grade 3:
 - eligibility for progression will occur by the acquisition of skills assessed (demonstrated competency) on a six monthly basis;
 - the skills to be assessed are selected from related workplace roles within the Entry to Grade 3 range;
 - the skills to be assessed are identified and agreed at the beginning of each assessment period.

- Grade 4 and above:
 - progression by vacancy only;
 - vacancies to be advertised.

Schedule 3 - Classification and Operating Principles - Miscellaneous Workers

Classification and operating principles

Basis for remuneration

Payment is determined by the skill level of the role, not the tasks undertaken. Therefore, payment does not automatically vary when particular tasks or new tasks are performed. Employees will on occasion perform work of a similar nature and because of the different skill levels required, attract different classification rates. This principle adheres to the concepts of competency based remuneration and payment for skills required.

Working within skill and safety limits

The Council may direct an employee to carry out such duties as are within the limits of the employee's skill, competence and training consistent with the classification structure of this Award, provided that such duties are not designed to promote deskilling and are in accordance with the Work Health and Safety Act 2011 and Regulations.

Award flexibility

The parties agree in principle that the Award skill level definitions and agreed classification structures will be more suitable for the needs of the Council, generally more broadly based, more truly reflective of the different skill levels of the tasks now performed, and which shall incorporate the ability for an employee to perform a wider range of duties where appropriate. This ability is limited to the extent of their training, accreditation and licensing requirements.

Role evaluation process

When a Department or Division, following consultation and agreement with the relevant union/s, decides to restructure work to meet business needs, or decide to expand operations into new areas, position descriptions will be created and graded according to an agreed role evaluation process.

The role evaluation process is designed to meet the following agreed principles:

- allows employee consultation;
- ensures position description quality (content);
- ensures corporate grading consistency; and
- ensures equity.

The position descriptions are to be developed according to an agreed format and to be submitted for role evaluation through the process indicated below:

1. Local work area - Develop and agree Position descriptions	2. Corporate Wages Grading Committee Establish role grading	Branch/section management - Appoint employees to roles

Process Steps	Composition	Purpose	Action
1. Local work area	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Employee reps where role exists • Supervisors • Section Head • Facilitator (SDO or Corporate Training Officer) 	Develop and agree PD to ensure consistent quality of PD through the use of the structured format	Forward agreed PD to Corporate Grading Committee (Step 2) If no agreement on PD refer to award grievance procedure
2. Corporate Wages Grading Committee	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • 3 x Inter-Departmental Management reps • Union official • HRD Officer 	Establish role grading Ensure corporate consistency	Communicates decision on final grading to Department or Division

The evaluation of the position descriptions by the Corporate Wages Grading Committee will occur through the application of the agreed role evaluation methodology.

Appointment process

Employees are attached to position descriptions through an appointment selection process when vacancies occur or new roles are created. Employees are selected based on skill, knowledge, and personal attributes, as assessed against the advertised selection criteria in accordance with the agreed Council merit based recruitment and selection process.

Schedule 4 - Classification and Operating Principles - Plant Operators

Definitions of key concepts and terms certification means the system of skill recognition and accreditation.

accredited course or nationally accredited course - is a course which has been constructed to reflect a group of standards which CTQ has endorsed as being appropriate combinations of skills to be available to the Council.

CTQ means Construction Training Queensland. CTQ will be the recognised authority (for the purposes of this Award) responsible for developing competency standards for consideration and endorsement by the National Training Board/Australian National Training Authority and the provision of advice and assistance to State and Territory Training Authorities in respect of matters relating to training in the Council and callings covered by this Award, including but not being limited to:

- competency standards,
- curriculum development,
- training courses,
- articulation and accreditation requirements both on and off the job,
- on the job training guidelines, and
- assessment and certification arrangements.

Recognition of Prior Learning or RPL means the formal recognition of skill attained through on-the-job experience and/or training and may include formal qualifications (such as overseas qualifications), which have hitherto been unrecognised. RPL principles are incorporated in both the competency standards and in the skill tests developed by CTQ for the various levels of the career structure contained in this Award.

Classification, skill recognition and career development

- (a) The award classification structure is designed to facilitate the improvement of the level of skills of the workforce and to provide a career path for all employees.
- (b) Accordingly, each classification level builds upon the previous level so that the value of employees to the Council increases as the employee progresses through the structure. Skills are built up in a sequential manner through job learnt skills and structured training and the industry training framework developed by CTQ reflects this intent.
- (c) Under the classification structure, an employee's skills are to be formally recognised, at all levels of the structure. Payment will be on the basis of the level of skills required to perform the work of a particular position or job offered by the Council.
- (d) An employee's work role will be outlined on a position description. The position description will be graded against the generic role and skill standard as specified in the classification structure.
- (e) All employees will be attached to position descriptions. This will be either on an individual or group basis, dependant upon the nature of the role and the business needs.
- (f) The Council may direct an employee to carry out such duties as are within the limits of the employee's skill and competency, consistent with the classification structure of this Award, provided that such duties are not designed to promote de-skilling.
- (g) All directions issued by the Council will be consistent with the Council's responsibilities to provide a safe and healthy working environment, in accordance with the Work Health and Safety Act 2011.

- (h) The parties to this Award are committed to co-operating positively to increasing the efficiency, productivity and competitiveness of Council, and to enhance the career opportunities and job security of its employees.
- (i) Introduction of new technology including specific plant not covered under the award classification is to be negotiated between the parties.
- (j) The parties agree in principle that the award skill level definitions and agreed classification structures will be more suitable for the needs of Council, generally more broadly based, more truly reflective of the different skill levels of the tasks now performed, and will allow the employee to perform a wider range of duties where appropriate, for example, maintenance work on plant and equipment, truck driving, and general field/operational work, including supervising. This ability is limited to the extent of their training, accreditation and licensing requirements.
- (k) Appointment process

Progression is based on appointment to a vacancy at a higher level through a selection process when vacancies occur or new roles are created. Employees are selected based on skill, knowledge, and personal attributes, as assessed against the selection criteria. Competency assessment will form part of an agreed skill evaluation process when appointments are being determined.

Schedule 5 - Definitions and Position Descriptors - Operational Services Employees

Introduction

- (a) (i) The following classification standards are generic and indicate in broad terms the skills and, in some instances, the type of work that may be required of employees.
- (ii) The work is reflected in a position description that specifies for employees the responsibility and skill requirement of the role.
- (b) The classification standards for multi skilled employees extend across a work and skill range typically performed by employees represented in the following areas (the list is not exhaustive):

Schedule 7 - Procedures for Classification and Reclassification of Employees - Building Trades Employees

Re-classification

- (a) In seeking upward reclassification, employees will be required to demonstrate that they meet the full requirements of the specific skill level in accordance with the criteria outlined in this Award and are required to carry out the duties at that level.
- (b) The employer may instruct an employee not to exercise competencies that they possess. In such a case, an employee cannot seek reclassification for possessing such competencies.

Progression through the trade classification structure

- (a) Upward progression for tradespersons through the classification structure will be facilitated through the process of re-classification. Employees will be provided the opportunity to be re-classified as they develop skills and appropriate to the requirements of the employer.
- (b) Progression through the classification structure can be achieved by the following processes:
 - (i) All trade employees shall commence at the 100% classification level. To achieve this level, the employee must hold an existing AQF Level 3 trade certificate, or have been assessed as competent in all core and the minimum number of elective competencies for the designated trade.
 - (ii) Acquisition of 12 "points" from outside their own trade at the Certificate 3 level or higher, in addition to the requirements of the employees' current level. This is equivalent to 120 nominal hours of accredited training. The acquisition of 12 points will result in the employee advancing one level higher than their current classification level. The employee shall advance one level for each 12 points acquired up to BT3 level.
 - (iii) Acquisition of 12 "points" of specialist post trade competencies in the employees own trade at AQF level 4 or higher (including specific licenses and endorsements for plumbers provided in the classification structure), in addition to the requirements of the employees' current level. This is equivalent to 120 nominal hours of accredited training. The acquisition of 12 points will result in the employee advancing one level higher than their current classification level. The employee shall advance one level for each 12 points acquired up to BT3 level.
 - (iv) The assessed competencies must be relevant to the work being performed and required by the employer.
 - (v) Competencies may be drawn from other trade qualifications.

Classification Disputes Procedure

- (a) It is recognised that from time to time disputes may arise as to the proper classification of a position or job to be filled by an employee. In the event that a dispute as to the proper classification or reclassification of a position or job does arise the dispute settlement procedure contained in clause 7.1 of the Award shall apply.
- (b) The parties to the dispute may call upon people/organisations with technical/educational expertise (such as Construction Skills Queensland or any successor organisation) and any other persons they believe would assist in the resolution of the dispute.
- (c) In any case, in determining the appropriate classification of a position or job to be filled by an employee, an employer will pay full regard to:

- the nature and skill requirements of the position to be filled;
 - the skill level and certification of the employee;
 - the experience and qualifications of the employee;
 - relevant indicative tasks nominated in this new structure; and/or
 - fields of work against which an employee is accredited.
- (d) Appropriate procedures will be established for testing the validity of an employee's claim for reclassification.

Formal recognition of skills:

- (a) Formal recognition of skills shall occur through either a skills assessment conducted in accordance with RPL principles, or through the acquisition of a statement of attainment issued by a Registered Training Organisation
- (b) Where it is identified that trade employees are required to use skills that are beyond the scope of their designated core trade, the employer shall ensure that a skills assessment is conducted to accurately determine the employees' competence in those skills so that the extra skills required can be formally recognised for the purpose of reclassification.
- (c) The employer shall be responsible for any costs associated with the skills assessment process. Results of skills assessments shall remain the property of the employee. Employees shall provide the results of skills assessments to the employer as required

Multi skilling

- (a) Multi-skilling facilitates employees working in non-traditional work areas and requires trades staff to perform duties and use skills that are not a part of their designated core trade. Higher skill levels may be beneficial to business operation and it is acknowledged employees should be remunerated according to the skills they are required to use. The reclassification process provides for wage levels to be determined according to skill levels with higher wages available to employees who are required to have and use the necessary competencies.
- (b) Employees who wish to progress through the classification structure may be required to up-skill and or cross-skill to meet the requirements of higher classification levels. Skills may be acquired from a variety of occupational areas. The business needs of the enterprise shall determine the skills required beyond the scope of the existing trade qualifications.
- (c) Upon request by the employee, existing trade skills used by an employee and required by the employer that are not part of the employee's designated trade, shall be identified, acknowledged, assessed, and counted towards a reclassification outcome.
- (d) Wherever possible registered competencies existing within the AQF shall be used as a benchmark for the assessment of vocational skills.

Schedule 8 - Definitions and Position Descriptors - Engineering/Electrical Trades Employees

Employees in this group are to be classified according to the level of competency they hold and are required to use in their work. The classification definitions provide descriptors of the nature of the work performed at each classification level. Where there is a query about the classification of an employee, their classification should be determined in accordance with the National Metal and Engineering Competency Standards Implementation Guide (Implementation Guide). A copy of the guide can be downloaded at www.mskills.com.au.

Competency can be shown by formal qualifications or by the actual exercise of skills. If an employee holds the minimum training requirement for a particular classification level in this Award, and they are required by the employer to use or will be required by the employer to use those skills in their job, then they cannot be classified below that particular classification level. For example, a person who holds a trade certificate and is required to use those skills cannot be classified below the C10 classification.

Schedule 11 - Definitions and Position Descriptors - Miscellaneous Workers

Introduction

The following classification standards are generic and indicate in broad terms the skills and in some instances, the type of work that may be required of employees. The standards are complimentary to an agreed role evaluation methodology, which values the work role against the classification standards.

The work role is reflected in a workplace statement that specifies for employees the responsibility and skill requirements of the role.

The classification standards extend across the work and skill range typically performed by employees represented in the following areas:

- City Hall
- Cleaners
- Car parks
- Cemeteries
- Art gallery
- City venues.
