AMENDMENTS

(Jury Service amendment to accord with the General Ruling Declaration, 14 September 2005, "Gazette" 30 September 2005)

PURSUANT to the Declaration of the Commission as to a General Ruling made on 14 September 2005:

1. By inserting at the end of PART 7 – LEAVE OF ABSENCE AND PUBLIC HOLIDAYS of clause 1.2 (Arrangement) of every Award set forth in column A of the Schedule below, a new title "Jury service" and its appropriate clause number reflected in column B of the Schedule below as from 15 September 2005.
2. By inserting a new clause in every Award set forth in column A of the Schedule below with its appropriate clause number reflected in column B of the Schedule below as follows as from 15 September 2005:

"7. Jury service

An employee, other than a casual employee, required to attend for jury service during their ordinary working hours shall be reimbursed by the employer an amount equal to the difference between the amount paid in respect of their attendance for such jury service and the ordinary pay the employee would have been paid if the employee was not absent on jury service.

Alternatively, by agreement, fees (other than meal allowance) received by the employee to attend jury service will be paid to the employer and the employer will continue to pay the employee their ordinary pay for the time the employee was absent on jury service.

Employees shall notify their employer as soon as practicable of the date upon which they are required to attend for jury service and shall provide their employer with proof of such attendance, the duration of such attendance and the amount received in respect thereof.

If the employee is not required to serve on a jury for a day or part of a day after attending for jury service and the employee would ordinarily be working for all or part of the remaining day, the employee must, if practicable, present for work at the earliest reasonable opportunity.

'Ordinary pay' means the rate of pay that an employee would normally expect to receive for working ordinary hours on an ordinary day of the week, including any over-award payment. 'Ordinary pay' excludes overtime, penalty rates of all types – including those attaching to working ordinary hours (for example) on a Saturday, disability allowances, shift allowances, special rates, fares and travelling time allowances, bonuses and other ancillary payments of a like nature."

Dated 22 November 2005.

G.D. SAVILL,
Industrial Registrar.
