The following conditions apply to part time employees:

4.2.2 The Chief Executive, or delegate shall determine the number of hours the employee may work and a regular pattern for the hours to be worked.

4.2.3 Subject to the provisions contained in clause 4.2, all provisions of this Award applicable to full-time employees apply to part-time employees on a pro rata basis where appropriate.

4.2.4 When a part-time employee is authorised to work additional hours outside the rostered shift, the part-time employee is eligible for payment of overtime in accordance with the provisions of clause 6.3 of this Award.

4.2.5 A part-time employee may be appointed to more than one position in the Queensland Ambulance Service provided that the maximum number of ordinary hours for which they are employed shall not exceed 76 hours per fortnight.

4.2.6 Where the employee and employer agree, part-time employment may be converted to full-time and vice-versa on a permanent basis or for a specified period of time. If such an employee transfers from full-time to part-time (or vice-versa), all accrued award and legislative entitlements shall be maintained. Following transfer to part-time employment accrual will occur in accordance with the provisions relevant to part-time employment.

4.3 Casual employment

A casual Employee means an Employee who is engaged as such on an hourly basis.

4.4 Incidental and peripheral tasks

4.4.1 An employer may direct an Employee to carry out such duties as are reasonably within the limits of the Employee's skill, competence and training.

4.4.2 An employer may direct an Employee to carry out such duties and use such tools and equipment as may be required provided that the Employee has been properly trained in the use of such tools and equipment (where relevant).

4.4.3 Any direction issued by an employer pursuant to clause 4.4.1 and 4.4.2 shall be consistent with the employer's responsibilities to provide a safe and healthy working environment.

4.5 Conduct of staff

All matters relating to the conduct of staff shall be dealt with under the Employee Performance Interview Code of Practice or the Disciplinary Code of Practice issued by the Commissioner of the Queensland Ambulance Service. Performance interviewing should, where appropriate, be used as an alternative to disciplinary action.

4.6 Performance interviewing

4.6.1 Purpose of performance interviewing

- (a) Performance interviewing can be used as an alternative to formal disciplinary action in resolving problems relating to the conduct of staff.
- (b) If the issue is not appropriate to be dealt with under the Disciplinary Code, the Supervisor, as determined by the Regional Assistant Commissioner, is to consider whether performance interviewing would be more appropriate than formally charging the officer concerned. Performance interviewing should, where appropriate, be used as an alternative to disciplinary action.

4.6.2 The preliminary interview (Informal)

- (a) Before deciding on formal performance interviewing, the Supervisor may decide to conduct an informal preliminary interview with the Officer alleged to have a problem with work performance or conduct. The main aim of the preliminary interview is to identify (in an informal way) the possible causes of the work related problem(s) and determine what remedial action is to be taken.
- (b) The Supervisor should outline the aspects of the officer's conduct which are causing concern. The Supervisor should then allow the officer an opportunity to respond and together, they should discuss options for resolving any problem(s) identified. The Supervisor should also stress to the officer that this interview is "informal" and off the record. Officers should also understand that the "informal" procedures will not be taken into account for any subsequent disciplinary action or promotion and will not appear on the officer's personal record.
- (c) The Supervisor and officer concerned should come to an agreement about the proposed course of action and set a review date to check progress.
- (d) The Supervisor conducting the preliminary interview should assess the appropriateness of referring the matter to the appropriate peer support personnel if there is a possibility that the work performance deficiency is stress related. If an Employee is referred for stress counselling, the procedures contained in this code should not be utilised.
- (e) The Supervisor conducting the preliminary interview should also assess the appropriateness of referring the officer for a medical examination if there is a possibility that the work performance deficiency is related to a medical problem.
- (f) On the review date the Supervisor should discuss with the officer how the officer has progressed. If progress has been satisfactory, the Supervisor should say so and encourage the officer to maintain the good standard. If the agreed course of action has not been followed or has not resulted in an improvement, the Supervisor is to consider whether a "formal" performance interview for the officer is necessary.

4.6.3 The formal performance interview

- (a) Before conducting a formal performance interview, the Supervisor must have established the facts and outlined and considered the officer's explanation. The Supervisor must then consider whether performance interviewing would be more appropriate than formally charging the officer.
- (b) The Supervisor must advise the officer that the Employee may have a Union representative or a witness present at the formal performance interview.
- (c) The main aim of the formal performance interview is to inform the officer that:
 - (i) The Supervisor is of the opinion that the officer has a specific or general work related problem.
 - (ii) Although it has been decided that formal disciplinary action will not be taken at this stage, the matter is regarded as serious.
- (d) A Supervisor may, if the supervisor chooses, have a witness present during the performance interviews.
- (e) In the course of the interview, the following points are to be clearly explained to the officer:
 - (i) The standards of conduct or work performance which are expect of the officer;

- (ii) How the officer has fallen short of these standards;
 - (iii) The consequences which may result from continued or repeated failure to adhere to these standards;
 - (iv) Where appropriate, measures the officer needs to take to improve the officer's performance.
- (f) Officers are to be made aware that their performance will continue to be monitored and a date is to be set to review progress. Officers should also understand that this performance interview may be taken into account in any subsequent disciplinary action and that it may be relevant to other decisions affecting their career (e.g. in relation to promotion). However, as far as possible the interview should end on a positive note, emphasising the opportunity for the officer to remedy the situation.

4.6.4 Records of formal performance interviews

- (a) Written records are to be kept for all formal performance interviews conducted. At the beginning of the interview, officers are to be advised that such record will be made.
- (b) An officer is to be invited to sign the record and given a copy of it. The Officer may add the officer's own comment to the record by way of explanation.
- (c) Records of formal performance interviews conducted by Assistant Commissioners or Area Managers, record action taken as an alternative to formal disciplinary action and accordingly, are to be placed on the officer's personal file.

Formal performance interview records should be retained for a period not exceeding 2 years. After 2 years, records are to be destroyed, unless disciplinary action has been taken within that 2 year period and information contained in the record is relevant to that action.

4.7 Mutual change of rostered shifts and annual leave

The Station Officer may, upon the application of any Employee, approve of mutual change of rostered shifts or the date of taking annual leave between such Employee and another Employee at that Station.

4.8 Preference in special duties

Preference in special duties shall be offered in the first instance, on a fair and equitable basis, to Employees who are rostered to perform on-road duty.

Provided that any Employee who may be called to perform special duty shall have a minimum 6 hour rest period before commencing such duty.

4.9 Two classes of work

Where an Employee on any one day performs 2 or more classes of work to which a differential rate fixed by this Award is applicable, such Employee if employed for more than 4 hours on the class or classes of work carrying a higher rate, shall be paid in respect of the whole time during which the Employee works on that day at the same rate which shall be at the highest rate fixed by this Award in respect of any such classes of work, and if employed for 4 hours or less on the class or classes of work carrying a higher rate the Employee shall be paid at such higher rate for 4 hours.

4.10 Anti-discrimination

4.10.1 It is the intention of the parties to this Award to prevent and eliminate discrimination, as defined by the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 and the Industrial Relations Act 1999 as amended from time to time, which includes:

- (a) discrimination on the basis of sex, marital status, family responsibilities, pregnancy, parental status, age, race, impairment, religion, political belief or activity, trade union activity, lawful sexual activity and association with, or relation to, a person identified on the basis of any of the above attributes;
- (b) sexual harassment; and
- (c) racial and religious vilification.

4.10.2 Accordingly, in fulfilling their obligations under the grievance and dispute settling procedure in clause 3.1, the parties to this Award must take reasonable steps to ensure that neither the Award provisions nor their operation are directly or indirectly discriminatory in their effects.

4.10.3 Under the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 it is unlawful to victimise an Employee because the Employee has made or may make or has been involved in a complaint of unlawful discrimination or harassment.

4.10.4 Nothing in clause 4.10 is to be taken to affect:

- (a) any different treatment (or treatment having different outcomes) which is specifically exempted under the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991;
- (b) an Employee, employer or registered organisation, pursuing matters of discrimination, including by application to the Human Rights and Equal Opportunity Commission/Anti-Discrimination Commission Queensland.

Provided that employment may be terminated by part of the period of notice specified and part payment in lieu thereof.

- (d) In calculating any payment in lieu of notice the minimum compensation payable to an employee will be at least the total of the amounts the employer would have been liable to pay the employee if the employee's employment had continued until the end of the required notice period. The total must be worked out on the basis of:

- (i) the ordinary working hours to be worked by the employee; and
- (ii) the amounts payable to the employee for the hours including for example allowances, loadings and penalties; and
- (iii) any other amounts payable under the employee's employment contract.

- (e) The period of notice in clause 4.11.2 shall not apply in the case of dismissal for misconduct or other grounds that justify instant dismissal, or in the case of a casual employee, or an employee engaged by the hour or day, or an employee engaged for a specific period or tasks.

4.11.3 Notice of termination by employee

- (a) Written notice of resignation of not less than 2 weeks shall be given by the Employee. Such 2 weeks shall not include annual leave unless mutually agreed.
- (b) Where 2 weeks' notice is not given, the equivalent amount of salary shall be forfeited in lieu.

Provided that where the Award makes provision for alteration of any of the matters referred to herein an alteration shall be deemed not to have significant effect.

4.12.2 Employer's duty to consult over change

- (a) The employer shall consult the employees affected and, where relevant, their Union or Unions about the introduction of the changes, the effects the changes are likely to have on employees (including the number and categories of employees likely to be dismissed, and the time when, or the period over which, the employer intends to carry out the dismissals), and the ways to avoid or minimise the effects of the changes (e.g. by finding alternate employment).
- (b) The consultation must occur as soon as practicable after making the decision referred to in clause 4.12.1.
- (c) For the purpose of such consultation the employer shall provide in writing to the employees concerned and, where relevant, their Union or Unions, all relevant information about the changes including the nature of the changes proposed, the expected effects of the changes on employees, and any other matters likely to affect employees:

Provided that an employer shall not be required to disclose confidential information, the disclosure of which would be adverse to the employer's interests.

4.13 Redundancy

4.13.1 Consultation before terminations

- (a) Where an employer decides that the employer no longer wishes the job the employee has been doing to be done by anyone, and this is not due to the ordinary and customary turnover of labour, and that decision may lead to termination of employment, the employer shall consult the employee directly affected and where relevant, their Union or Unions.
- (b) The consultation shall take place as soon as it is practicable after the employer has made a decision, which will invoke the provisions of clause 4.13.1(a) and shall cover the reasons for the proposed terminations, measures to avoid or minimise the terminations and/or their adverse effects on the employees concerned.
- (c) For the purpose of the consultation the employer shall, as soon as practicable, provide in writing to the employees concerned and, where relevant, their Union or Unions, all relevant information about the proposed terminations including the reasons for the proposed terminations, the number and categories of employees likely to be affected, the number of workers normally employed and the period over which the terminations are likely to be carried out:

Provided that an employer shall not be required to disclose confidential information, the disclosure of which would be adverse to the employer's interests.

4.13.2 Transfer to lower paid duties

- (c) The amounts must be worked out on the basis of:
 - (i) the ordinary working hours to be worked by the employee; and
 - (ii) the amounts payable to the employee for the hours including for example, allowances, loadings and penalties; and

For this purpose a statutory declaration will be sufficient.

4.13.5 Notice to Centrelink

Where a decision has been made to terminate employees in the circumstances outlined in clause 4.13.1, the employer shall notify Centrelink as soon as possible giving all relevant information about the proposed terminations, including a written statement of the reasons for the terminations, the number and categories of the employees likely to be affected, the number of workers normally employed and the period over which the terminations are intended to be carried out.
