1.4.2 As to the employers named in the Schedule to this Award the provisions of the Award are modified in accordance with the requirements of the individual Orders listed in such Schedule.

1.4.3 This Award will not apply to those employees who come under the terms and conditions of the:

- (a) Brisbane City Council - Miscellaneous Workers' Award - 2002;
- (b) Brisbane City Council Plant Operators' Award 2002;
- (c) Brisbane City Council - Construction, Maintenance and General Award 2003;
- (d) Brisbane City Council Salaried Staff Award 2002 (Federal); and
- (e) Local Government Employees' (Excluding Brisbane City Council) Award - State 2003.

1.4.4 Salaried Employees - Partial Exemption

The purpose of this provision is to allow for flexibility in the spirit of genuine negotiations that provides benefits and rewards for the employer and its employees. It is not intended to be used as an audit instrument unless due evidence of a disadvantage can be adequately demonstrated.

Unless specified otherwise, clause 5.1 - Classification structure, clause 5.2 - Wage rates, clause 5.3 - Allowances, clause 5.4 - Payment of wages, Part 6 - Hours of Work, Breaks, Overtime, Shiftwork, Weekend Work, and clause 7.6 - Public holidays shall not apply to salaried employees who have negotiated with the employer a salaried remuneration package of 25% (excluding superannuation) or more above the base rate they would normally receive for the respective wage level they would be classified at under this Award.

A salaried employee may, at the end of each completed year of continuous service, request an audit of their individual circumstances where they can demonstrate that good reason exists. Where a salaried employee believes they are being disadvantaged by being on a salary, such employee may choose to:

- Renegotiate the salary package with the employer; or
- If they are unable to renegotiate the salary package, give the employer 4 weeks' notice of withdrawing from the package arrangement and reverting (or converting) to full coverage under this Award.

No employee shall receive a salaried remuneration package less than what would have applied if all entitlements exempted above were to be applied. Where a shortfall is determined, it will be adjusted by the employer.

If an employee requests and is granted an alteration to their roster for personal reasons which may incur a disadvantage when compared to a base rate employee within the same wage level, the employee will not be entitled to any shortfall.

1.7 Parties bound

This Award is legally binding upon the employees as prescribed by clause 1.4, their employers, the Union and its members.

PART 2 - FLEXIBILITY

2.1 Enterprise flexibility

- 2.1.1 As part of a process of improvement in productivity and efficiency, discussion should take place at each enterprise to provide more flexible working arrangements, improvement in the quality of working life, enhancement of skills, training and job satisfaction and to encourage consultative mechanisms across the workplace.
- 2.1.2 The consultative processes established in an enterprise in accordance with clause 2.1 may provide an appropriate mechanism for consideration of matters relevant to clause 2.1.1. Union delegates at the place of work may be involved in such discussions.
- 2.1.3 Any proposed genuine agreement reached between an employer and employee/s in an enterprise is contingent upon the agreement being submitted to the Commission in accordance with Chapter 6 of the Act and is to have no force or effect until approval is given.

PART 3 - COMMUNICATION, CONSULTATION AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION

3.1 Consultation

- 3.1.1 The parties to this Award are committed to co-operating positively to increase the efficiency, productivity and competitiveness of the industries covered by this Award and to enhance the career opportunities and job security of employees in such industries.
- 3.1.2 At each plant or enterprise, an employer, the employees and their relevant Union commit themselves to establishing a consultative mechanism and procedures appropriate to the size, structure and needs of that plant or enterprise. Measures raised by the employer, employees or Union for consideration consistent with the objectives of clause 3.2.1 will be processed through that consultative mechanism and procedures.

3.2 Grievance and dispute settling procedure

The matters to be dealt with in this procedure shall include all grievances or disputes between an employee and an employer in respect to any industrial matter and all other matters that the parties agree on and are specified herein. Such procedures shall apply to a single employee or to any number of employees.

- 3.2.1 In the event of an employee having a grievance or dispute the employee shall in the first instance attempt to resolve the matter with the immediate supervisor, who shall respond to such request as soon as reasonably practicable under the circumstances. Where the dispute concerns alleged actions of the immediate supervisor the employee(s) may bypass this level in the procedure.
- 3.2.2 If the grievance or dispute is not resolved under clause 3.2.1, the employee or the employee's representative may refer the matter to the next higher level of management for discussion. Such discussion should, if possible, take place within 24 hours after the request by the employee or the employee's representative.
- 3.2.3 If the grievance involves allegations of unlawful discrimination by a supervisor the employee may commence the grievance resolution process by reporting the allegations to the next level of management beyond that of the supervisor concerned. If there is no level of management beyond that involved in the allegation the employee may proceed directly to the process outlined at clause 3.2.5.

- 3.2.4 If the grievance or dispute is still unresolved after discussions mentioned in clause 3.2.2, the matter shall, in the case of a member of the Union, be reported to the relevant officer of that Union and the senior management of the employer or the employer's nominated industrial representative. An employee who is not a member of the Union may report the grievance or dispute to senior management or the nominated industrial representative. This should occur as soon as it is evident that discussions under clause 3.2.2 will not result in resolution of the dispute.
- 3.2.5 If, after discussion between the parties or their nominees mentioned in clause 3.2.4, the dispute remains unresolved after the parties have genuinely attempted to achieve a settlement thereof, then notification of the existence of the dispute is to be given to the Commission in accordance with the provisions of the Act.
- 3.2.6 Whilst all of the above procedure is being followed, normal work shall continue except in the case of a genuine safety issue.
- 3.2.7 The status quo existing before the emergence of the grievance or dispute is to continue whilst the above procedure is being followed.
- 3.2.8 All parties to the dispute shall give due consideration to matters raised or any suggestion or recommendation made by the Commission with a view to the prompt settlement of the dispute.
- 3.2.9 Any Order or Decision of the Commission (subject to the parties' right of appeal under the Act) will be final and binding on all parties to the dispute.
- 3.2.10 Discussions at any stage of the procedure shall not be unreasonably delayed by any party, subject to acceptance that some matters may be of such complexity or importance that it may take a reasonable period of time for the appropriate response to be made. If genuine discussions are unreasonably delayed or hindered, it shall be open to any party to give notification of the dispute in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

- 4.5.2 An employer may direct an employee to carry out such duties and use such tools and equipment as may be required:

Provided that the employee has been properly trained in the use of such tools and equipment.

Provided that employment may be terminated by part of the period of notice specified and part-payment in lieu thereof.

- (d) In calculating any payment in lieu of notice the minimum compensation payable to an employee will be at least the total of the amounts the employer would have been liable to pay the employee if the employee's employment had continued until the end of the required notice period. The total must be worked out on the basis of:

- (i) the ordinary working hours to be worked by the employee; and
- (ii) the amounts payable to the employee for the hours including for example, allowances, loadings and penalties; and
- (iii) any other amounts payable under the employee's employment contract.

- (e) The period of notice in clause 4.8.2 shall not apply in the case of dismissal for misconduct or other grounds that justify instant dismissal, or in the case of a casual employee, or an employee engaged by the hour or day, or an employee engaged for a specific period or tasks.

4.8.3 Notice of termination by employee

The notice of termination required to be given by a full-time or part-time employee shall be 7 days.

If an employee fails to give notice, the employer shall have the right to withhold monies due to the employee with a maximum amount equal to one week.

4.8.4 Annual leave will not form part of the notice periods as prescribed in clauses 4.8.2 and 4.8.3, unless mutually agreed in writing.

4.8.5 Time off during notice period

During the period of notice of termination given by the employer, an employee shall be allowed up to one day's time off without loss of pay for the purpose of seeking other employment. This time off shall be taken at times that are convenient to the employee after consultation with the employer.

- (a) The employer shall consult the employees affected and, where relevant, their Union or Unions about the introduction of the changes, the effects the changes are likely to have on employees (including the number and categories of employees likely to be dismissed, and the time when, or the period over which, the employer intends to carry out the dismissals), and the ways to avoid or minimise the effects of the changes (e.g. by finding alternative employment).
- (b) The consultation must occur as soon as practicable after making the decision referred to in clause 4.9.1.

4.10 Redundancy

4.10.1 Consultation before terminations

- (a) Where an employer decides that the employer no longer wishes the job the employee has been doing to be done by anyone, and this is not due to the ordinary and customary turnover of labour, and that decision may lead to termination of employment, the employer shall consult the employee directly affected and where relevant, their Union or Unions.
- (b) The consultation shall take place as soon as it is practicable after the employer has made a decision, which will invoke the provisions of clause 4.10.1(a) and shall cover the reasons for the proposed terminations, measures to avoid or minimise the terminations and/or their adverse effects on the employees concerned.

- (i) the ordinary working hours to be worked by the employee; and
- (ii) the amounts payable to the employee for the hours including for example, allowances, loadings and penalties; and
- (iii) any other amounts payable under the employee's employment contract.

 - (i) the continuity of the employment of the employee shall be deemed not to have been broken by reason of such transmission; and

- (b) If the employee has been allowed paid leave for more than one day during the notice period for the purpose of seeking other employment, the employee shall, at the request of the employer, be required to produce proof of attendance at an interview or the employee shall not receive payment for the time absent. For this purpose a statutory declaration will be sufficient.

4.10.5 Notice to Centrelink

Where a decision has been made to terminate employees in the circumstances outlined in clause 4.10.1, the employer shall notify Centrelink as soon as possible giving all relevant information about the proposed terminations, including a written statement of the reasons for the terminations, the number and categories of the employees likely to be affected, the number of workers normally employed and the period over which the terminations are intended to be carried out.

An employee whose employment is terminated for reasons set out in clause 4.10.1(a), may terminate such employment during the period of notice, and, if so, shall be entitled to the same benefits and payments under clause 4.10 had such employee remained with the employer until the expiry of such notice:

Provided that in such circumstances the employee shall not be entitled to payment in lieu of notice.

Clause 4.10 shall not apply to employees with less than one year's continuous service and the general obligation on employers should be no more than to give relevant employees an indication of the impending redundancy at the first reasonable opportunity, and to take such steps as may be reasonable to facilitate the obtaining by the employees of suitable alternative employment.

4.11 Continuity of service - transfer of calling

In cases where a transfer of calling occurs, continuity of service should be determined in accordance with sections 67-71 of the Act, as amended from time to time.

PART 5 - WAGES AND WAGE RELATED MATTERS

5.1 Classification structure

5.1.1 Career Path Progression

Implicit in career path progression is the existence of a suitable vacancy within the establishment to which the employee can be appointed or successfully apply for promotion and that progression is based on work performance rather than tenure.

As a matter of principle, the employer is committed to promotion on the basis of merit that is consistent with equal employment opportunity and affirmative action requirements.

Professional development is not compulsory and will be undertaken in either the employee's or the employer's time depending on the circumstances. This is to promote a culture of learning in line with the employer's commitment to training. Specific in-house training programmes that are compulsory, for example, induction training, training for supervisors would be undertaken in the employer's time.

To progress to a higher classification level, an employee must also have demonstrated a competent level of work performance as highlighted in the performance management programme outlined in the Staff Induction Manual or Staff Handbook that shall be adhered to at all times.

5.1.2 Classification Criteria

An employer shall determine the classification of a position through the following process:

- An analysis is to be undertaken to establish the requisite skills and responsibilities for each identified position and a position description written for each position;
- Each position is classified by reference to the classification criteria set out below; and
- Employees are notified in writing of their appointment to a position consistent with the requirements outlined in clause 4.1 of the Award.

Classification criteria are guidelines to determine the appropriate classification level and consist of:

- Relativities for each Grade;
- Indicative experience and/or qualifications;
- Indicative levels of responsibility; and
- Indicative duties that represent where the majority of the employees duties are located (i.e. it is not mandatory that an employee performs every duty in a Grade and where it is acknowledged that some duties are only relevant for certain sectors of the industry).

The characteristics nominated above are the principal guide to classification as they are designed to indicate the level of basic knowledge, comprehension of issues, problem and procedures required, the level of autonomy, accountability supervision/training involved with the position.

The characteristics of a Grade must be read as a whole to gain an understanding of the position and the performance requirement. Isolated characteristics should not be used to justify the classification of a position. The key issue to be analysed in properly classifying an employee is the level of initiative, responsibility/accountability, competency and skill that an employee is required to exercise in performing the employee's work within the parameters of the characteristics of the position.

The attributes and skills for each Grade are indicative of those required for each Grade. They are by no means an exhaustive list of the skills, attributes or tasks included in each position within each Grade and employees may be expected to carry out additional tasks as requested, which require skills that are not listed.

It should be noted that some typical duties/skills appear at one Grade only while others appear at more than one Grade. Because of this, the classification or re-classification of a position needs to be done by reference to the specific characteristics of the Grade. As an example, because an employee may be utilising a skill comprehended at a higher Grade than that which the employee has been appointed, the employee assumes the level of qualification, initiative, accountability and competence envisaged by the characteristics of the higher Grade irrespective of whether the employee holds formal qualifications for that higher Grade.

Payment for skills required in a particular position and used on a regular basis and not skills/qualifications possessed is an acknowledgement that some employees are over-qualified for the position they will be engaged in.

 - (b) Proper health monitoring procedures being introduced;
 - (c) Suitable roster arrangements being made; and
 - (d) Proper supervision being provided.
- 6.1.7 Regardless of any other provision in clause 6, where the arrangement of ordinary hours of work provides for a rostered day off, the employer and the majority of employees involved may agree to accrue up to a maximum of 10 rostered days off. Where such agreement has been reached, the accrued rostered days off shall be taken within 12 months of the date on which each rostered day off was accrued. Consent to accrued rostered days off shall not unreasonably be withheld by either party.

6.2 Overtime

6.2.1 Except as is otherwise provided, all time worked in excess or outside of the ordinary working hours prescribed by clause 6.1 will be deemed to be overtime and will be paid for at the rate of time and a-half for the first 3 hours and double time thereafter:

Provided that there will be a minimum of 4 hours pay for overtime worked by any employee on their public holiday or holidays.

6.2.2 All time worked on Sundays will be paid for at the rate of double time with a minimum payment as for 4 hours work.

6.2.3 If the meal period is worked, it will be deemed to be overtime and paid for at the rate of double time and such double time payment will continue until such time as the employee finishes work or is allowed a half-hour meal break for which no deduction of pay will be made.

6.2.4 Where an employee is called upon to work overtime for more than one hour after their usual ceasing time the employer will supply such employee with an adequate meal or pay an amount of $12.10 in lieu thereof.

The employee will be allowed a break of 20 minutes in which to consume such meal for which no deduction of pay will be made:

Provided that when an employee has provided themselves with customary meals because of receipt of notice to work overtime, the employee will be entitled to an allowance of $12.10 for each meal so provided in the event of such overtime not being worked.

6.2.5 In the compilation of overtime payments prescribed by clause 6.2, any time of a-half of an hour that is worked on any one day will be paid for as a full half of an hour.

6.2.6 Where the employee and employer so agree and at the initiation of the employee, an employee may be compensated for any overtime worked by time-off in lieu of overtime to be taken within 13 weeks of the overtime being worked. Where time-off in lieu is not taken within 13 weeks, overtime will be paid for such time in the next pay.

Time-off in lieu taken will be the equivalent number of hours as was worked by the employee.

6.2.7 An employee who works so much overtime between the termination of that employee's ordinary work on one day and the commencement of the employee's work on the next day that the employee has not at least 10 consecutive hours off duty between those times will, subject to clause 6.2.7, be released after completion of such overtime until the employee has had 10 consecutive hours off duty without loss of pay for ordinary working time occurring during such absence.

If, on the instructions of the employer such an employee resumes or continues work without having had such 10 consecutive hours off duty, the employee will be paid double rates until released from duty for such period. The employee will then be entitled to be absent until the employee has had 10 consecutive hours off duty without loss of pay for ordinary working time occurring during such absence:

Provided that, where an employee is recalled to work after ordinary ceasing time, overtime worked in such circumstances will not be regarded as overtime for the purposes of clause 6.2.7 where the actual time worked is less than 3 hours on such recall or on each of such recalls.

6.3 Meal breaks

6.3.1 Employees who work at least 6 hours on any one day, will be entitled to a meal break of not less than 30 minutes and not more than one hour to be taken between the 4th and 6th hours after commencing duty at a time which does not interfere with the continuity of work, where continuity is necessary, or as arranged between the employer and the employee.

6.3.2 Where a meal break or portion of a meal break is not taken it will be paid at the rate of double time and there will be a break of 30 minutes as soon as possible thereafter for which no deduction of pay will be made.

6.4 Rest pauses

6.4.1 Full-time and part-time employees will receive a rest pause of 10 minutes duration in the 1st half and the 2nd half of each day worked:
