PART 3 - COMMUNICATION, CONSULTATION AND DISPUTE RESOLUTION

3.1 Grievance and dispute settling procedure

The objectives of this grievance procedure are to promote resolution of grievances by consultation, co-operation and discussion; to reduce the level of disputation; and to promote efficiency, effectiveness and equity in the workplace.

This grievance procedure shall apply to all industrial matters within the meaning of the Act.

3.1.1 Process:

(a) Stage 1:

When an employee has any grievance which they wish to raise with the employer, the employee must notify their immediate supervisor either verbally or in writing of the nature of the grievance. The supervisor shall be required to respond to the employee concerned within 24 hours where this is practicable, but no later than 5 working days after having been notified of the grievance.

(b) Stage 2:

If an employee is not satisfied with the response from their immediate supervisor or did not receive a response within the period specified, they may notify their department head/branch manager that a grievance remains unresolved. Department heads/branch managers are required to respond to the employee within 7 working days after having been notified.

(c) Stage 3:

If the employee is not satisfied with the department head's or branch manager's response, or if no response is received, the employee may notify the most senior manager of the organisation, in writing. The senior manager shall ensure that the grievance is investigated expeditiously in a thorough, fair and impartial manner, and shall ensure all relevant details including representations by a Union (where applicable) are put before the appropriate principal/s for determination.

(d) Stage 4:

If the grievance is still not resolved the matter may be referred to the Commission by the employer or the Union as appropriate, in accordance with the dispute settling provisions of the Act, the Anti-Discrimination Commission or any such appropriate body.

3.1.2 General conditions:

- (a) At any time during the grievance procedure, an employee may consult with their Union representative, and be represented by their Union.
- (b) Subject to legislation, while the grievance procedure is being followed, normal work will continue, except in the case of a genuine safety issue. The status quo existing before the emergence of a grievance is to continue whilst the procedure is being followed. No party will be prejudiced as to the final settlement by the continuation of work.
- (c) Where the grievance involves allegations of sexual harassment or other issues of a sensitive or personal nature, an employee may commence the procedure at Stage 3.
- (d) Recognition will be given to internal dispute resolution structures existing within an individual establishment provided that the process contained in clause 3.1.1 is followed.

4.2 Mixed functions

Where any person on any one day performs 2 or more classes of work to which a differential rate fixed by any award or agreement is applicable, such person, if employed for more than 4 hours on the class or classes of work carrying a higher rate, shall be paid in respect of the whole time during which the employee works on that day at the same rate, which shall be at the highest rate fixed by such award or agreement in respect of any of such classes of work, and if employed for 4 hours or less on the class or classes of work carrying a higher rate, the employee shall be paid at such highest rate for 4 hours.

4.3 Anti-discrimination

4.3.1 It is the intention of the parties to this Award to prevent and eliminate discrimination, as defined by the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 and the Industrial Relations Act 1999 as amended from time to time, which includes:

- (b) sexual harassment; and
- (c) racial and religious vilification.

4.3.2 Accordingly, in fulfilling their obligations under the grievance and dispute settling procedure in clause 3.1, the parties to this Award must take reasonable steps to ensure that neither the Award provisions nor their operation are directly or indirectly discriminatory in their effects.

4.3.3 Under the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 it is unlawful to victimise an employee because the employee has made or may make or has been involved in a complaint of unlawful discrimination or harassment.

4.3.4 Nothing in clause 4.3 is to be taken to affect:

- (a) any different treatment (or treatment having different outcomes) which is specifically exempted under the Anti-Discrimination Act 1991;

- (f) An employee must not be engaged and/or re-engaged (which includes a refusal to re-engage) to avoid any obligation under this Award.

PART 5 - WAGES AND WAGE RELATED MATTERS

5.1 Classification definitions and process

5.1.1 All employees engaged under this Award shall be offered employment in one or more of the categories defined in Schedule 1.

5.1.2 Process

An employer shall determine the classification of a position through the following process:

- (a) Analysis is to be undertaken to establish the requisite skills and responsibilities for each identified position and a position description written for each position.
- (b) Each position is classified by reference to the classification criteria set out in Schedule 1 of this Award, in accordance with clause 5.1.2(a).
- (c) Employees are appointed to a position at the appropriate level within the structure contained in Schedule 1.

5.1.3 Classification criteria

- (a) Classification criteria are guidelines to determine the appropriate classification level under this Award and consist of characteristics and typical duties and skills.
- (b) The characteristics are the principal guide to classification as they are designed to indicate the level of basic knowledge, comprehension of issues, problem and procedures required, the level of autonomy, accountability supervision/training involved with the position. The characteristics of a level must be read as a whole to gain an understanding of the position and the performance requirements. Isolated characteristics should not be used to justify the classification of a position. The typical duties/skills are a non-exhaustive list of duties/skills that may be comprehended within the particular level. They are an indicative guide only and at any particular level employees may be expected to undertake duties of any level lower than their own. Employees at any particular level may perform/utilise one such duty/skill or many of them depending on the particular work allocated to them. Typical duties/skills should not be used for classifying employees but may be useful if the characteristics of a level cannot be easily applied in an individual instance.
- (c) The key issue to be looked at in properly classifying an employee is the level of initiative, responsibility/accountability, competency and skill that an employee is required to exercise in performing the employee's work within the parameters of the characteristics of the position.
- (d) It should be noted that some typical duties/skills appear at one level only while others appear at more than one level. Because of this, the classification or reclassification of a position needs to be done by reference to the specific characteristics of the level.
- (e) Level 1 in the structure may be applied as a level at which employees learn and gain competency in the basic skills required by the employer. In the event that the increased skills/competency are utilised by the employer, progression through the structure may be possible.

5.2 Wages

5.2.1 The minimum rates payable to adult employees shall be as follows:

Level 5	110	723.70

7.6 Industrial training leave

7.6.1 A Union delegate or duly elected or appointed Union representative shall, upon written application by the employee to the employer, such application being endorsed by the Union and given to the employer at least 2 months in advance (or such lesser period as mutually agreed between the employee's Union and employer/s), be granted up to 5 working days' leave (non-cumulative) on ordinary pay each calendar year to attend courses or seminars conducted by the Union. The scope, content and level of such courses or seminars shall be such as to contribute to a better understanding of industrial relations within the employer's operations.

7.6.2 Any written application by an employee seeking release of a delegate or representative to attend a course shall include details of the type and content of the course to be attended as well as the dates upon which the course is proposed to be conducted.

7.6.3 For the purposes of clause 7.6 "ordinary pay", means the ordinary time earnings paid to the employee exclusive of any allowances, penalty rates or travelling time and fares.

7.6.4 The granting of industrial training leave shall be subject to the following conditions:

- (a) the employee must have at least 6 months continuous service with the employer prior to such leave being granted and be the elected Union delegate/representative;
- (b) unless otherwise agreed the maximum number of ordinary hours of industrial training leave which an employer shall be required to grant each year will be as follows:

number of ordinary hours worked by employees per week	number of ordinary hours ITL per calendar year

1901-3800	76
3801 and over	152

- (c) where an employer has more than one place of employment in Queensland then the maximum number of employees entitled to attend a course at the same time shall be 2. This shall not prevent an employer from agreeing to release additional employees;
- (d) the granting of such leave shall be subject to the convenience of the employer so that the operations of the enterprise will not be adversely affected.

Where an employer approaches the Union and demonstrates genuine difficulties with respect to the release of a particular Union delegate or representative at a particular time (including where the employer might have previously advised of its ability to release such Union delegate or representative) the Union will not unreasonably press its request for the release of that delegate/representative at that time. If the matter is not amicably resolved, it shall be processed in accordance with clause 3.1.

7.6.5 In granting industrial training leave, the employer is not responsible for any additional costs except the payment of extra remuneration where relieving arrangements are instituted by the employer to cover the absence of the employee.

Leave granted to attend such training courses will not incur any additional payment or alternate time off if such course coincides with an employee's day off in a 19 day month working arrangement, or with any other concessional leave.

7.6.6 Such paid leave will not affect other leave granted to employees under this Award.

7.6.7 On completion of the course the employee shall, upon request, provide to the employer proof of their attendance at the course. Except in the case of sick leave or other authorised leave, non-attendance at a training course will result in the employee not being paid for such time.
